GRADE SCHOOL MUSICALES FILLS HS AUDITORIUM

Twelve hundred boys and girls of the grade schools of the Gettysburg Joint School system took part Friday evening in the annual Elementary Musicales in the high school auditorium before an audience of 1,200 or more, parents and friends.

Mrs. Barbara Strickhouser, vocal music instructor in the grade schools, directed the choral numbers while student bands and a string ensemble were under the direction of Robert G. Zeigler and William Neal. Art work for stage settings and many of the special stage effects for various numbers was created by Richard Krick of the faculty.

Appearing in grade groups, the youngsters were scores of numbers, many of them accompanied by special stage effects including costumed performers for the story of the "Gingerbread Boy," the circus and special performers for the Third graders' "Come to the Fair."

From Texas To The Danube When the Fourth graders appeared for a series of cowboy songs that opened with "Deep in the Heart of Texas," Mrs. Strickhouser donned a sombrero, a bandana and a two-gun, belt as did most of her performers.

After a series of five numbers by Fifth graders that opened with "The Beautiful Blue Danube" and closed with the "Stars and Stripes Forever" the Sixth graders presented a group of spirituals and then the Sixth grade chorus concluded with four numbers and a farewell song.

There were instrumental numbers by the elementary band, a string ensemble and the Sixth and Fifth grade bands with some specialty number including a lively "Cromatic jump" by the "Blue Jays."

Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. Howard Fox, Mrs. Allen Sloat, Miss Betty Burger, who also directed the elementary band for several selections, and Miss Julie Freed.

LOCAL GIRL TO SERVE IN SOUTH

Miss Carol Holtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Holtz, 17 Fifth St., is one of five students in the Senior class of Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg, who will spend next year as voluntary lay apostles in Catholic institutions in the southwestern United States.

Miss Holtz and three of her classmates will serve as elementary teachers at Immaculate Conception School, Alamogordo, N. M., while another will act as a secretary for the parish and its missions. The fourth volunteer will do social work at Saint Paul's Hospital, Dallas, Tex.

This "give-a-year" plan is under the auspices of the Blessed Clet Mission unit at Saint Joseph College, which assists in financing the expenses of the lay apostles. Last year the unit supported five lay apostles in New Mexico.

Miss Holtz and her companions, Miss Joyce Bissikumer, Staunton, Va.; Miss Faith Hawkins, Baltimore, and Miss Angela Rocks, Waynesboro, will leave for New Mexico the end of August. Miss Judith McNally, Rockville, Md., will begin her social work in Dallas in October.

RURITAN CLUB HEARS NATIONAL PREXY ON FRIDAY

Rome F. Schwagel, Keedysville, Md., national president of Ruritan, was the speaker at the regular April meeting of the Hunterstown Ruritan Club Friday evening at the Great Conewago Presbyterian Church at Hunterstown with 30 members and guests in attendance.

President Schwagel is a former athletic director at Georgetown University, served for four years with the Navy in World War II and now is vice president and general manager of the Eastern States Soilbuilders, Inc. of Sharpsburg, Md.

Since his assuming office on February 1, President Schwagel said he has traveled 17,000 miles in the interests of Ruritan. The National Council of the Boy Scouts of America at its 48th anniversary breakfast in Washington, D. C., said Ruritan was given recognition as leading all clubs in its sponsoring of the Scouting program. During his brief remarks Friday he pointed out that local civic organizations like Ruritan could lend direction to better understanding between nations.

Make Payment On Park

Another dinner guest was Arthur Weaver, Gettysburg R. 4. During the business meeting, President Francis Stern, action was taken to approve payment of $100 toward the club's indebtedness for the purchase of ground to be used as a Hunters-town community park. The leaves a balance of $280 against the original price of over $700. The membership also approved a donation of $15 to the New Chester community building trustees to help repair a building being used by the Girl Scouts. Treasurer Herbert Zepp reported a current balance of $67.64.

Plans were approved to make the June meeting a work-picnic affair at the community park land site.

longhand after dictating a lengthy statement to a shorthand reporter.

O'Kane said Early, who described himself as a nephew of Knight, had served aggravated robbery terms at Leavenworth and Canon City, Colo., prisons.

Describes Crime Early readily talked to reporters and officers about the shootings. He even took part in a taped recording, describing the crime, for later broadcast on a Littleton radio station (KUDY).

Early, pasty-faced and chain-smoking, smiled as he listened to officers describe the crime to reporters.

After his radio interview, Early told the newsmen: "I did a favor for you on the radio, now you got me some smokes."

This was the sequence of events, told by Sheriff Charles Foster: Early came to Denver after his release from the Kansas prison and registered at the YMCA.

Where Truck Driver Died In Crash, Flames

The smoking remains of the inferno that claimed a gasoline truck driver's life is shown Friday afternoon east of Fayetteville on Route 30. A state highway department grader is shown at left where it had been shoved onto the property of John West Jr., whose house, not seen in the picture, was damaged from the fire caused when the gasoline truck smashed into the grader and the gas ignited. The cab of the tractor-trailer was crushed by the impact. A man atop the tank truck is checking gasoline found in a tank compartment after the fire had been brought under control. (Times Photo)

Will Meet With More Collectors

The Adams County commissioners this morning set two dates for the appearance by five tax collectors before them to discuss exonerations. Originally, all tax collectors were scheduled to appear during a period starting Wednesday afternoon and ending at noon today. However when conflicts occurred, arrangements were made with five collectors to appear later.

The Franklin, Menallen and Mt. Pleasant collectors are to meet with the commissioners May 7 and the Tyrone and Oxford collectors will appear May 10.

PLAN MOTHER'S WEEKEND HERE

Gettysburg College has completed plans for the 33rd annual Mother's Weekend to be held on the campus next Saturday and Sunday.

According to David Salberg, Pennsville, N. J., chairman, of this year's activities, the schedule calls for visits by the mothers to their sons' and daughters' classes and a meeting of the parents association Saturday morning. Afternoon events include a annual May Day exercises preceded by a AFOTC and AROTC drill on Memorial Field, a baseball game with Albright, a tennis match with Franklin and Marshall and a water show in the college pool.

Saturday night's program will feature an assembly in Christ Chapel, where, continuing long-standing tradition, a message will be given by one of the mothers and response made by a son and daughter. A concert by the college choir will follow.

A special Mother's Day service will be held Sunday morning in Christ Chapel with Chaplain Edwirth E. Korte as the speaker. Assisting in the service will be Frederick A. Poltz, of Wilkes-Barre, who will read the Scripture lessons.

Two Girls Hurt As Auto Is Demolished

Two young women were injured when a station wagon struck a tree 12:15 o'clock this morning 1.7 miles south of New Oxford on a legislative route.

State police said Donald E. James, 20, Hanover, was driving north, and had negotiated a sharp curve with his 1957 station wagon when he lost control and the vehicle left the highway and smashed into a tree. The station wagon was demolished with police estimating the loss at $2,100.

Two passengers were removed by the New Oxford ambulance to the Hanover Hospital. They were Carolyn Brown, 18, Hanover, who had lacerations of the scalp and chin, and Caroline Schumacher, 18, also of Hanover, who had multiple lacerations of the face, ear and forehead.

TRUCK BREAKS POLE

State police were called this morning at 2:30 o'clock when a tractor-trailer struck a utility pole and toppled it onto the Gettysburg-Carlisle Rd. five miles north of Biglerville. Police said it was believed that a red painted tractor-trailer struck the pole, knocking it across the highway, and then continued on without halting. They are continuing their investigation.

Auditor Says State Hospitals Give Away Millions In Service

HARRISBURG (AP)—Scranton state hospital officials stood accused today of indiscriminately giving away more than a million dollars in hospital service "without regard to need or the law."

Auditor Gen. Charles C. Smith made the accusation in a letter to Gov. Leader. He said a special investigation showed 12 prominent state or local persons or their relatives have unpaid bills for care at the Scranton hospital. The bills ranged from $12.50 to $1,414.07.

The list included James H. Crowley, $7,500-a-year chairman of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, and his wife, to the amount of $432.55.

Smith said the situation was shocking. He demanded "prompt corrective measures."

Thirteen cases were listed for special mention in a report released by Smith. It was signed by Alfred T. Novello, deputy auditor general.

Poor Bookkeeping

Novello said the examination of the bookkeeping and other procedures at the hospital showed them "far below the acceptable stand-

GASOLINE TRUCK DRIVER BURNS TO DEATH IN CRASH

A Fayetteville gasoline tanker driver was burned to death Friday afternoon when his tractor-trailer tank truck, loaded with 4,500 gallons of gasoline, smashed into a state Highway Department grader and created a funeral pyre that soon was at least 100 feet wide by 75 feet high.

Eight fire companies were called to the scene near the Black Gap Rd., along the Lincoln Highway about a mile east of Fayetteville.

Fire equipment was there from Gettysburg, Cashtown, Chambersburg, Letterkenny Ordnance Depot, Mont Alto and Fayetteville.

When the flames had died, only the torso of Robert Bender, 40, Fayetteville R. 1, driver of the tanker owned by the H. C. Gabler Petroleum Transportation Service, Chambersburg, lay by his truck.

Pinned In Cab

Three state highway department workmen, who had been with the grader as it was engaged in stabilizing the berm on the north side of the highway, were removed to the Chambersburg Hospital for treatment a few minutes after the crash. They were Junior C. Kauffman, 38, New Franklin, operator of the grader; Charles Starliner, 66, Mercersburg R. 1; the foreman of the crew, and Calvin Kitzmiller, 38, Upper Strasburg, the flagman.

Both the grader and the tank truck were headed west when the tanker smashed into the rear of the grader. The tank portion of the gasoline truck rode up over the cab, smashing it and pinning Bender in the vehicle.

Gasoline Pouring from the Tanker burst into flames almost immediately.

Home Damaged

Fayetteville firemen found the fire leaping 75 feet in the air and fanning out in a huge bowl of flames entirely across the highway. They immediately summoned other fire companies.

The inferno swept 60 feet across a lawn to the house of John West Jr. wiping out the lawn at the home, blistering the paint on the front of the house, cracking windows and igniting the roof. Thick black smoke, from burning tires on the truck and grader, poured through the home, causing additional damage.

The fire swept up a utility pole some 70 feet from the scene, burning away wiring. Another pole 50 feet from the scene on the opposite side of the road was burned. Electricity and telephone communications were wiped out for a time in the area.

MAY FIRE NEW ROCKET MONDAY

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy expects to make another attempt to launch a temperamental Vanguard rocket housing a 20-inch satellite next week after two setbacks caused by technical problems.

One scientific source said the shot may be tried as early as next Monday.

The launching of the three-stage rocket was "scrubbed" early yesterday morning and again last night when faults were discovered in Vanguard's complex mechanism during the crucial preliminary countdown.

It was reported unofficially that the trouble was caused partly by a leak of white fuming nitric acid from the fuel system that propels the second-stage vehicle.

Last Of 7 Tests

The Vanguard carries a 21½ pound satellite payload shaped like a basketball. The satellite is three times bigger and seven times heavier than the Vanguard I "moon" now orbiting the globe.

The Naval Research Laboratory has announced that this test is the last in a series of seven intended to check the performance of the launching rocket.

Future Vanguard launchings will be aimed primarily at placing a satellite in orbit.

Few of the Vanguard vehicles to date have performed smoothly during the checkout phase prior to launching.

Ex-Queen Heads For Bermuda Vacation

NEW YORK (AP)—Princess Soraya of Iran was aboard an ocean liner today headed for a Bermuda vacation.

Soraya, who arrived here from Europe Tuesday, declined to be interviewed by newsmen but allowed cameramen to take pictures. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Eva Esfandiary-Bakhtiary and her brother, Bijan.

A member of the party said the former queen was "absolutely exhausted."

Soraya was divorced by the Shah of Iran because she could not provide him with an heir to the throne.

COURT BLOCKS TESTS' PROTESTS

HONOLULU (AP)—The crew of ketch Golden Rule, prevented by court order from sailing to Eniwetok to protest U.S. nuclear tests considers itself helpless to do anything about British tests.

"How can we protest the British tests when we haven't finished protesting our own?" asked Albert Bigelow Smith, 51, Cos Cob, Conn., skipper of the Golden Rule.

Bigelow told newsmen the United States is by far the worst offender in the number of such tests, with 150 against 75 Russian and 25 British.

Bigelow and his crew of three are under a Federal Court order prohibiting them from sailing to Eniwetok 1,800 miles southwest of here.

A hearing is scheduled for next Thursday on the order.

With Bigelow are George Villoughby, 43, of Blackwood Terrace, N.J.; William R. Huntington, 51, St. James, N.Y.; and Orion Sherwood, 28, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

A skit "Litterbugs on Trial" was presented by Dens 1 and 3 at a meeting of Cub Pack 78 Friday evening in Xavier Hall. It was in keeping with the theme for April "Keeping America Beautiful," and was under the direction of den mothers, Mrs. Charles Woodward, Den 1, and Mrs. David Stoner, Den 3. They were assisted by Mrs. William Orner.

The Rev. Fr. Alexis Arnoldin presided in the absence of Cubmaster William Orner, who is ill. Nine new members were enrolled: John Bierly, Charles Riley Jr., John Oyler, Arthur Roth, James and Don Elsenhart, John Bosak, Gerry Hartzell and Richard Shetter. Other boys wishing to join may notify the Cubmaster or Frank Linn, committee chairman. Linn announced that a family picnic will be held at the next pack meeting at the CCC Camp. The date will be announced later. Tentative plans were made for a hike in May and for the pack to attend a big league ball game this summer. The pack will also participate in the Memorial Day parade.

Rev. Fr. Arnoldin announced that there will be no more den meetings until fall. He said he hoped the pack will visit historical and other points of interest this summer. He thanked the past Cubmaster, Julian Estep, Mr. Orner, committee members and den mothers for their work.

Reports were given by Mrs. Bernard Frazer and Mrs. Donald Fazenbaker, den mothers of Dens 2 and 4 respectively. They reported that Den 2 had made waste baskets from ice-cream cartons and visited the National Museum and Diorama. Den 4 visited the Diorama and made the posters used in the skit.

Prof. and Mrs. Fred Ahrens, Carlisle St., and Mrs. Mary Martin, E. Lincoln Ave., are spending the day in Reading.

Mrs. Margaret Postum and Mrs. Rue Wood, Washington, D. C., are visiting Mrs. John T. Huddle, 311 Carlisle St.

The Barlow Homemakers Daytime Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Bernard Redding, W. Confederate Ave., at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Florence Moran, Harrisburg, will speak on "Police and Personality" and Miss Bernice Tharp, State College, will speak on "International Influence in Dress" at the Homemakers Day to be held Thursday, May 8, in Mt. Joy Church, Taneytown Rd. The program will center around poise, clothing and fashion and will open at 10 a.m. with luncheon at noon. A fashion show will be presented of the garments made in beginner's sewing. There will be exhibits of table settings, hooked rugs and canning. A playroom will be available for children.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry F. Baughman, Springs Ave., entertained the seminarians and their wives at dessert Wednesday and Thursday at their home. There were 77 present at Wednesday's party and 44 Thursday evening.

Mrs. R. E. Myers, Richmond, Va., will arrive Sunday to spend several days with her mother, Mrs. E. Mae Beales, 264 Baltimore St.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Gregg have returned to their home on Carlisle St. after spending the winter at Lantana, Fla.

Censure Dickinson Over Dismissal

DENVER (AP)—Censure was voted against Dickinson College of Carlisle, Pa. by the American Assn. of University Professors yesterday on the grounds that a dismissal of a faculty member infringed upon academic freedom.

The association, during its 44th annual convention here, lifted 1956 vote of censure against Temple University, Philadelphia.

In the case of Temple, the lifting of censure was made contingent upon the rewriting of part of a policy statement which the professors interpret as meaning that a faculty member would have to prove to the trustees his fitness to continue as a teacher if he had refused to cooperate with any legislative committee.

The Dickinson College censure came for dismissal of Prof. L. R. Lavalley for invoking the fifth amendment when called before the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1956.

PROPERTY HERE SOLD

Girl Scout News

Brownie Troop 57 hiked Friday afternoon to the National Museum Park where they were instructed in making a fire. The girls roasted hotdogs and had ice cream, donated by Mrs. John Eyer in honor of the birthday of Betty Eyer, which will be May 1. Thirteen members and one guest, Marilyn Bigins, were present with the leaders, Mrs. Rex Maddox, Mrs. Eyer, Mrs. Monroe J. Dellinger and senior aide, Lella Tharp. The troop returned to Christ Lutheran Church following the hike.

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 42 took part in a nature hike Friday afternoon. The girls collected wild flowers, ferns, mosses and insects. The girls returned to St. James Church at 5 o'clock. They were accompanied by the leaders, Mrs. Paul Newman and Mrs. Ralph Bream.

Wedding

Shanebrook-Mullinix

Miss Lois Jane Mullinix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Mullinix, Finksburg R. 1, and Arthur S. Shanebrook Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shanebrook Sr., Gettysburg R. 1, were married April 5 at 2 p.m. in Calvary Methodist Church, Gamber. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, the Rev. Duane Churchman.

Mrs. Karl Mullinix, Finksburg, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Gerald Hartlaub, Littlestown, niece of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Gerald Mullinix, sister-in-law of the bride, were bridesmaids. Gerald Hartlaub was best man. Ushers were Karl Mullinix, brother of the bride, and Harry Clower, Mt. Airy. Frank Brothers was soloist, accompanied by Miss Patricia Brothers.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Gettysburg High School and is a member of the Army Reserves in Gettysburg. He is employed by the United Company in Westminster. After a trip to Jamestown, Va., and other points of interest they are residing in Littlestown.

TO MAKE X-RAYS HERE NEXT WEEK

Brought here by the Adams County Tuberculosis Society, an x-ray unit from the Bureau of Tuberculosis Control of the state Department of Health will x-ray pupils in seven Adams County high schools next week and will be available in the evenings in a number of county towns to examine the public.

On Monday evening the unit will be at the New Oxford fire house from 5 to 8 p.m.; on Tuesday during the same hours in front of the Littlestown State Bank building; on Wednesday at the Biglerville High School; on Thursday at the McSherrytown fire house and on Friday evening from 5 to 9 p.m. in the first block of Baltimore St., near the police car stand.

During Monday morning and afternoon the unit will x-ray students at the York Springs and East Berlin High Schools; Tuesday, Littlestown High; Wednesday, Biglerville; Thursday, Fairfield and Delone High and Friday at Gettysburg High School. Only pupils who have not been examined previously during their high school careers will be examined.

GASOLINE TRUCK

the area as firemen sought to halt the blaze. The concrete highway was clipped and scarred from the heat and explosions.

The gas truck driver, an employee of the Gable firm for the last 18 months, was married and father of one son. He was driving the loaded truck from Baltimore to Chambersburg at the time of the crash.

Grader Crew Hurt Junior C. Kauffman, operator of the grader, had a possible fractured back in the accident. Starliner, who was riding in the grader with Kauffman at the time of the crash, had a scalp laceration. Kitmiller had cuts of the forehead, nose, upper lip and left knee.

United Telephone company officials said their cable between Gettysburg and Chambersburg was burned through in the blaze and regular service was not restored until 5:30 p.m. Meanwhile a temporary route was set up for calls which were handled on a delayed basis.

4 TIME STANDARDS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky will have four time standards tomorrow: Central Daylight, Central Standard, Eastern Standard and—"backwards standard."

The latter is the tongue-in-cheek answer of music studio operator Jerry Diggins to the number of time standards in the state. His studies clock runs counter-clockwise and has the numbers painted in that order. But it's accurate, even if confusing, he says.

BIKE STOLEN

Tom Bullitt, 547 Hillcrest Place, reported to borough police her bike was stolen from the Keefeauver Elementary School Wednesday night.

RELATES STORY OF CAPTURE OF "JEFF" DAVIS

How his heavy boots betrayed the president of the Confederacy as he sought to escape in woman's disguise was told Thursday evening by George Olinger, S. Washington St., at the meeting of the local Civil War Round Table at the GAR rooms.

Details were from a book, "History of the Great Rebellion," by Thomas P. Kettel, published in 1865 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy was attending services at the Monumental Church, Richmond, April 2 when a mud covered orderly brought him word from General Lee that Davis should depart from Richmond if he wished to save himself," Olinger said.

"A few hours later Davis was a fugitive on his way to Danville. Davis attempted to re-establish his government at Danville with what was left of his cabinet but as Union forces drew nearer he was advised to head further south. Davis was still confident and at Charlotte, N. C., made a public speech a few days later to the effect that he would soon have a larger and stronger army in the field than ever before.

"On April 25 he left Charlotte, alarmed by the approach of Stoneman's Cavalry who were searching for him in the area. On the retreat he was accompanied by several ambulances and a small mounted escort.

"At daybreak on May 9, 1865, the 4th Michigan Cavalry came upon the Davis camp two miles from Irwinstown, Ga. The Davis encampment was so surprised that everyone was captured.

"Andrew Bee, a private of Company L, went to Davis's tent and was met by Mrs. Davis, who was barefooted and bareheaded, and who put her hand on the young soldier's arm and asked: 'Please don't go in there until my daughter gets dressed.'

"The young soldier waited and in a few minutes a young lady and another person, bent over as if with age, dressed in woman's clothes and with a shawl over the head, appeared and asked to go to the run for water.

Mrs. Davis said to Private Bee: 'Let my old mother go get some water.'

"When no objections were made, they started down the path. Suddenly a Corporal Munyer of Company C discovered that the old woman was wearing very heavy boots for a woman and shouted: 'That's not a woman, don't you see the boots.' He spurred his horse forward and cooking his rifle compelled the 'old woman' to remove her shawl and thus disclosed Jefferson Davis.

"Davis then stood erect and faced his captors and cried out: 'Is there a man among you? If there is, let me see him!' 'Yes' said the corporal. 'I am one and if you stir I'll blow out your brains!'

Expected To Be Shot "Davis said: 'I know my fate and I might as well die here.' 'His wife threw her arms around his neck and kept between him and the corporal.

"Davis was stripped of his female attire, revealing that he was dressed in a complete suit of gray and had a six weeks growth of beard. He said he thought the government was too magnanimous to hunt women and children that way. Col. Pritchard immediately told him that he would do the best he could for his comfort.

"Davis answered: 'I ask no favors of you.' "The colonel replied: 'Nevertheless you will be treated with the utmost kindness.'

"Davis was then taken to Fort Monroe."

York Students Are Contest Winners

Students of York Catholic High School finished first and second in the finals of the annual high school oratorical competition of the Forensic League of the Harrisburg Diocese conducted Thursday night in the auditorium of St. Joseph's Academy, McSherrytown.

First place went to Herbert J. Martin, who spoke on the topic "Spinning Decent Discs." Finishing second was Rosalie A. Dunn, whose subject was "The Greater Glory of God."

The Most Rev. George L. Leech, bishop of Harrisburg, presided and presented the awards, including a traveling trophy to be the property of York Catholic High School for the next year.

Participants in the finals, in addition to the York Catholic High School entries, included Barbara Caldwell, of St. Joseph's Academy, whose subject was "The Lay Apostolate."

Time Schedule For Court Is Explained

While the Adams County courts do not operate on Daylight Saving Time, grand jurors when they report Monday for duty will not notice the difference.

Because the court must operate on standard time—while the rest of the community will be on daylight time—the court will begin one hour earlier—according to standard time.

Clerk of Courts Kenneth W. Johns put it this way: "If anybody is individually operating on standard time he should report for the court duty at 8:30 o'clock EST Monday and he will be on time for the opening of court."

"If, however, he is operating on Daylight Time, he should report for duty at 9:30 o'clock DST and both the DST follower and the EST follower will arrive simultaneously."

3-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS RESCUED FROM AN UNUSED WELL

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Frantic rescuers last night dragged a sobbing three-year-old girl from the narrow abandoned well where she had been trapped for an hour.

Susie Najera plunged into the abandoned well while playing in her back yard. Her father had uncovered it to fill it in as a danger to his children.

The tot was trapped in a standing position, her hands above her head.

"She was walking, and didn't see the hole," Susie's brother Richard, 6, said. "She tried to hold on, but couldn't. So I ran and told Daddy."

Neighbors lowered her 13-year-old uncle, Charles, head first to reach her, but failed. Susie was wedged in tight about eight feet down.

"I touched her fingers once, but couldn't hold her," Charles sobbed.

At that point Susie cried, "Daddy, there's sand in my eyes."

"Close your eyes, honey," her father, electrical worker Fernando Najera, answered. "We'll have you out in a minute. We'll get you some candy. Don't cry."

Both mother and father remained calm—the mother's face pale and terror-stricken, but without tears.

Police sent a dozen units. A rescuer arrived. Firemen brought some equipment.

A parallel shaft was dug to the well opening and detective Ted Elkins dug through from there across to Susie.

"I told her to hold real still, and she did. She's a brave tyke," Elkins said.

Detective Phil Lopez threw down a borrowed religious medal to Susie.

An hour later, the unharmed Susie, from a hospital bed, was demanding the promised candy.

VIE FOR HONORS AT HARRISBURG

HARRISBURG, April 26 (AP)—Some 3,500 youngsters in 46 high school bands and choruses today vied for top honors at the 27th annual Pennsylvania forensics and music league competition.

The band competition was the high point of the three-day competition dedicated to promotion of the arts in state schools.

The invasion of bandmen, coming by the busload from all sections of the commonwealth, was in marked contrast to the more sedate music and speech soloists of the preceding two days.

Though no winners were named in the event, competition was keen to gain the coveted "superior" rating by league judges. The three day competition is sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh.

Nineteen bands entered the event. In addition judging opened on six orchestras and 27 choruses, averaging some 75 voices each.

In other action Brownsville High and Westview High, of Pittsburgh, squared off to decide the debating championship. It is the only event of three-day forensics and music competitions in which a winner is named. The title was won last year by Meadville.

"WHERE HAPPINESS LIES"

In the endless search for happiness . . . I've often tried to measure . . . the things that truthfully make up . . . this most sought-after treasure . . . after much strife and struggle . . . I now have come to know . . . that the things taken for granted . . . are the healers of life's woe . . . little things, like song and laughter . . . do so much to calm our fears . . . and tender smiles can weave a web . . . of fruitful, joyful years . . . from nature, too, come blessings . . . beyond the reach of gold . . . priceless things that all mankind . . . can truly have and hold . . . so when in search of happiness . . . you need not wander far . . . it lingers in the little things . . . exactly where you are.

The report also listed Freda Kaiser, Scranton, as owing $13.71. Five of the persons involved, including Cowley, said last night they either have paid or will pay the bill. Two others claimed they were not responsible for relatives' bills and two claimed the whole thing was a mistake.

Three others could not be reached for comment.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—They held the Battle of Flowers parade here in celebration of an anniversary of Texas' independence from Mexico, but at least 33 children didn't get to see it.

They were lost and sitting in the juvenile bureau, equipped with lollipops and balloons. Some laughed and some cried while waiting for parents to come pick them up.

COOL WEATHER IN MANY AREAS, SNOW IN OTHERS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frosty temperatures chilled the upper Midwest again today and fresh snow blanketed sections of the western Plains, but the Southeast basked in 70-degree readings and thunderstorms crackled along the Gulf Coast.

Akron, Colo., had a thunderstorm accompanied by snow while three inches of snow already covered the ground.

Skies were fair over most of the area east of the Mississippi River and in the Southwest, but there was considerable cloudiness in the Northwest, the Plains states and the lower Mississippi Valley.

The mercury ranged from the 20s in the northern Great Lakes to the 70s in parts of Florida and along the Gulf Coast.

Warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico rolled northward over much of Texas and the Gulf states, touching off scattered thunderstorms in eastern Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi. A few showers occurred as far north as southern Oklahoma and as far east as Alabama.

Snow fell over western South Dakota, western Nebraska and eastern Colorado mostly in light amounts, but Denver reported an inch of snow during the night.

Much cooler air covered sections east of the Appalachians with temperatures ranging from 10 to 20 degrees cooler than a day ago.

Although temperatures were a little warmer along the Gulf and in parts of the Plains, it continued cool elsewhere in the East.

STROHS LEADS DOUBLES EVENT IN ABC TOURNEY

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Two members of the famed Detroit Strohs hold the leadership in the doubles division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament with a score that may well stand the remaining 44 days.

The burly combination of Bob Nickel and Joe Joseph turned the trick yesterday with a 1,369 total, the same score that won the title last year for Joe Meszaros and Ronnie Jones of Sterling, Ohio.

The Strohs failed to win a national tenpin title last year.

Nickel, 32, a rotund 260-pounder who moved to Detroit from Toledo to bowl with the Strohs, ripped off a 706 series. Joseph, 40, a former Lansing, Mich., restaurant proprietor who commutes some 5,000 miles a month to his bowling chores in the Motor City, complemented with 663.

Nickel's outburst was a far cry from the 589 series he rolled Thursday night to hobble the Strohs as they "kicked off a 3,205 series, good for a second-place tie in the open team event.

Despite his performance yesterday, which helped boost the pair to the eighth largest doubles total in ABC history, it is rumored that Nickel will be ousted from the Strohs line-up at the end of the season. The Strohs underwent an almost complete refurbishing when Buzz Fazio left the club last summer to form the new St. Louis Falstaffs, which currently lead the open division of the tournament.

Another member of the Stroh stable, Billy Golembewski, banged out a 1,954 total for the nine-game all-events course to put a claim on fifth place in that category.

Pennsylv Man Is 9th

Frank Clause, Scranton, Pa., rounded out the day's minor events changes by rolling 696 for ninth place in the singles.

The ABC convention came to a conclusion yesterday with the election of Richard W. Gano of Salt Lake City, Utah, as president.

Two proposed amendments to the ABC constitution were defeated. A proposal to create a booster division in the minor events of the ABC tournament and a proposal to create a "professional class" for ultra-high average teams proved unpopular with the majority of delegates.

Steals Documents To Test Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young library of Congress technician says he walked away with 456 hush-hush documents without being detected. He says he did it to show that the nation's security practices are faulty.

John W. Dukeminier, 24, a microphotographer, said yesterday he took the documents, labeled secret and confidential, from the Armed Services Technical Information Agency at the library.

He said he reported his action to the National Security Council in a letter to Robert Cutler, President Eisenhower's special assistant for national security affairs.

A spokesman for Cutler said an investigation is under way. Col. Woodrow W. Dunlop, ASTIA commanding officer, declined comment pending an inquiry.

3 Teen-agers Are Killed In Crash

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP)—Three teen-agers were killed last night as their auto crashed against a bridge with such force the vehicle split in half.

Parts of the wreckage were strewn about the bridge which carries route 346 over Willow Creek, 14 miles west of this northwestern Pennsylvania community.

The chassis landed in a creek. The victims, all about 18 years old, were thrown clear.

State police identified the dead from cards on their persons as Glenn Ruth of Corydon, Pa.; David Burch of Onondale, N. Y.; and Jerry O'Neill of Kinross, Pa.

Gambling Is Legal But Needs License

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Tax Commissioner William Deutsch, enroute to a meeting here, stopped by chance at the Supper Club in Reno.

The club's application to operate four slot machines came before the Commission. Surprised, Deutsch recalled that he had seen four slots getting heavy action at the club the night before.

Club operator Thomas Lawson said he thought earlier approval by the Gaming Control Board was sufficient.

The commission disagreed. It will reconsider the application next month.

Gambling is legal in Nevada.

residence. No one was home, but he entered through a basement door. He waited about two and a half hours until Mrs. Knight returned.

Early brandished a .22 caliber rifle and forced her to her bedroom where he bound her hands and feet. Mrs. Knight told him to get $60 from her purse.

Early wanted more money and decided to wait Knight's return from work. Meanwhile, the children, Karen and Kenneth returned from school. Early forced Karen into her bedroom and tied her up, the same as her mother.

Son Is Bound

Kenneth was also bound with silk stockings in his mother's room, at the foot of her bed.

Knight returned home about 5:30 or 5:45 p.m. Early forced Mrs. Knight to call to him and when he entered her bedroom early threatened him with the gun and forced him to his bedroom.

Knight was ordered to bind his feet with gauze. Early then bound Knight's hands after taking about $127 from his wallet.

Early delayed his departure waiting for darkness. During that period he walked from room to room checking on the four bound persons.

Dies In Hospital

On a visit to Knight's room he said Knight "lured at me and without thinking I started shooting." Knight was wounded three times. He died later in a hospital.

Early then decided to kill the others because "they were witnesses."

Early went to the mother's bedroom, stepped over Kenneth, and shot Mrs. Knight once in the head. He walked over Kenneth on leaving and went to the daughter's bedroom and killed her with one shot.

While Early was in Karen's bedroom, Kenneth broke loose from his bonds and ran out of the house. Early fired one shot before the rifle jammed.

Son Calls Neighbors

Kenneth ran to a neighbor's house where a dinner party was in progress and shouted "Mother and Dad have been shot." Several members of the dinner party ran out to get into a car and noticed a car leaving the Knight driveway.

The neighbors rammed their car into the automobile in which Early was trying to escape. Early jumped out and started running but was overtaken by William Pumpelly and Varian Ashbaugh. They held him until officers arrived.

A reporter asked Early why the Knights had been shot.

"I needed money," Early answered.

"What for?" the reporter asked, and Early answered: "What does anybody need money for?"

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said last night the nation is ready to elect a Democrat president in 1960.

She asked listeners at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner "why is the nation ready for a change?" and said "because the GOP has cited again and again its theme of efficiency in government, but now we find ourselves in the midst of a serious recession. Big business in government won't work."

U. S. CARDINAL STRICKEN UPON REACHING ROME

ROME (AP)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch, archbishop of Chicago, was rushed to a surgeon's private clinic today, suffering from a circulatory ailment of his right arm.

A high source close to Vatican authorities said the cardinal might have to be operated on today. This source said it was feared gangrene might be beginning. Amputation was a possibility, the source said.

The cardinal's American doctors were summoned and any required surgery might await their arrival, another source said. He was in the clinic of Dr. Pietro Valdoni, one of Europe's top surgeons who twice has operated on Italian Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti.

"Extremely Tired"

Pale and weary, Stritch arrived in Rome yesterday to take over a new post as pro-prefect of the Vatican's Congregation for Propagation of the Faith.

When the 78-year-old Cardinal arrived aboard the liner Independence in Naples it was noted that he seemed extremely tired.

Attendants then said that he was not well but declined to give any details of his ailment. He was aided constantly aboard ship by an attendant who held his arm.

THE PILOT

Pilots keep growing in popularity and importance. Most of them on fast trains, and planes, take on a big responsibility. Most of them are skillful, intelligent and much experienced. We who travel put our entire trust in them while we are one of their passengers. Our safety is theirs as well. Often these pilots are called upon to act quickly. Recently one saved nearly a hundred lives by his quick decision and courage. At sea the pilot of a ship — the captain — is the last one to leave his ship if it goes down at sea. Books of heroism on the part of all sorts of pilots, have been written and have meant a great deal to young boys who read these inspiring tales. Most of these pilots are modest and dependable. They take no wild chances for they have families of their own. In the early days of sailing at sea, the pilot of a ship had to be a man of nerves and outstanding courage. We live in a different world today as to speed and efficient traveling. Whether we are to have pilots to take us to the moon is something each one of us must speculate on himself. It looks possible, but I am afraid the landing places are apt to be rather crude — or none at all!

Progress in every part of the world is marked by men of iron will and exceptional courage. Col. Lindbergh inspired scores of men and undoubtedly paved the way for feats of daring that had never before been perfected as this young boy performed. He was a pilot, but on his own, and he will always be honored as such.

DUB GOLFER'S TROUBLES
I'm very careful with my grip.
I guard against the slightest slip.
I think about my backswing and I pick the smoothest place to stand.I watch my wrists and hips and feet.
All golfing axioms I repeat:
"Slow back" and "eye upon the ball."And "follow through," then after all
That patient and devoted care,
I scarcely drive it anywhere.
And then I watch my genial pro
Who steps right up and lets 'er go;He never thinks about his stance.
He gives the little ball a glance.
Then swings his club in furious style
And drives it out a half a mile.

KILLED IN CRASH

VINCENTOWN, N.J. (AP) — A head-on auto collision brought death to three elderly persons and critically injured another on Route 72 last night.

State police said the cars collided when one pulled out to pass a third car on the highway seven miles east of here. The highway has only two lanes.

The fatal victims were Rowland B. Woolman, 75, and his wife, Ethel, 71, of 406 Lawrence St. Burlington, and Arthur G. Worrall, 78, of 125 Webster Ave., Wyncote, Pa.

Worrall's wife, Genevieve, 66, was in critical condition in Burlington County Hospital, Mount Holly, with head and chest injuries.

Police said the car carrying the Worralls was headed east in the direction of the Jersey shore, with Worrall at the wheel. Worrall pulled out of line to pass another car and collided with the Woolman's auto, police said. Woolman was driving the westbound car.

County History

Captain David Wilson

By B. F. M. MacPherson

In Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Cemetery are the graves of Captain David Wilson, soldier of the American Revolution, and his wife. The inscriptions from the stones marking their graves are as follows:

"In Memory of
Captain David Wilson
A Revolutionary Patriot, Who
Died July 22, 1846
In the 95th Year of His Age"

"In Memory of
Mrs. Jane Wilson
Consort of Captain David Wilson
Died July 12, 1838
In the 81st Year of Her Age"

David Wilson was a son of America 1836-37, and took up a tract of land in Manor of the Masque, Pennsylvania. He, James Wilson, married Jane (or Jean) . . . (?) after his arrival in this country, and they were the parents of the following children:

1. Elizabeth Wilson — born November 10, 1743 — married William Reed.
2. Hugh Wilson — born February 25, 1746.
3. James Wilson — born October 30, 1747.

4. John B. Wilson — born December 25, 1749.
5. David B. Wilson — born June 8, 1752 — married Jane Rowan.

6. Martha Wilson — born 1754.
David Married In 1777

David Wilson, the fourth son and fifth child of James Wilson, married, in 1777, Jane, the daughter of Henry and Jane Rowan. Henry Rowan was a pioneer settler in the Manor of the Masque, having taken up a tract of land before June, 1739.

Henry and Jane Rowan were the parents of the following children:

1. Robert Rowan — born March 8, 1754.
2. James Rowan — born May 25, 1756 — married Mary Boggs.

3. Jane Rowan — born October 5, 1757 — married David Wilson — died July 12, 1838.

4. Alexander Rowan — born March 17, 1763.

5. Jeremiah Rowan — born April 24, 1767.

6. Henry Rowan — born June 22, 1766.

In 1775, according to the Pennsylvania Archives (Volume II, Sixth Series), David Wilson was Captain of the Fourth Company, Fifth Battalion, York County Associates, Colonel William Rankin, Esq., commanding. Lieutenant Colonel Matthew Dill was the second in command. Robert Rowan, who was soon to become his brother-in-law, was the lieutenant in Captain Wilson's company.

In 1777 David Wilson was captain of a company in the Second Battalion, Colonel McCallister commanding, of the famous "Flying Camp." A payroll for this company, dated October, 1777, never before published, is included in this column because of its historical value. The roll follows with the time of entry into service and the rate of pay for each man:

1. David Wilson, capt., August 29, $10.00.
2. John Black, 1st lieutenant, August 29, $6.15.

3. Saml. Shannon, 2nd lieutenant, August 29, $6.15.
4. William Lowther, ensign, Sept. 7, $5.00.

5. John Weems, sgt. maj., Sept. 7, $3.75.
6. Alexander Wilson, arg., Sept. 7, $3.

7. James Miller, 1. M. Sgt., Aug. 29, $3.75.
8. Quintin Armstrong, arg., Aug. 29, $6.60.

9. George Sweeney, arg., Sept. 12, $5.30.
10. Robert Lownd (Rowan), Aug. 29, $6.60.

11. John McCush, corp., Sept. 7, $2.15.
12. John McNeal, corp., Aug. 29, $2.15.

13. Thos. White, corp., Aug. 29, $2.15.
14. Hugh Work (Black), Aug. 29, $2.15.

15. William Patterson, drum, Aug. 29, $2.15.
16. Hugh Wilson, private, Aug. 29, $2.10.

17. Stephen Giffen, private, Sept. 7, $2.10.
18. William Clingan, private, Aug. 29, $2.10.

19. Andrew Smith, private, Aug. 29, $2.10.
20. Andrew Graham, private, Aug. 29, $2.10.

21. Henry Brown, private, Aug. 29, $2.10.
22. William Boyd, private, Sept. 7, $2.10.

23. Charles Wilson, private, Sept. 7, $2.10.
24. William Nelson, private, Aug. 29, $5.5.

25. Samuel Harron (Herron), private, Aug. 29, $5.5.
26. Samuel Russel, private, Sept. 12, $4.18.

27. Robert McGowan, private, Sept. 7, $4.14.
28. Henry Work, private, Aug. 29, $5.5.

29. Robert Stewart, private, Sept. 7, $4.4.
30. Nathl. Spear, private, Aug. 29, $5.5.

31. John Scott, private, Sept. 7, $4.10.
32. John McClean, private, Aug. 29, $5.5.

On June 30, 1832, Captain David Wilson was granted a pension by the U. S. Government for his services in the Revolution. In applying for the pension he stated that he had served as a captain in the "Pennsylvania Line." At the time (1832) he was 82 years of age.

According to a fairly reliable tradition Captain David Wilson was at the time of his death (1846) the last veteran of the American Revolution in Adams County, Pennsylvania. A careful check of the files of the "Star and Sentinel" and the "Compiler" would seem to confirm this.

Captain David and Jane (Rowan) Wilson had the following children:

1. James Wilson — born March 9, 1778.
2. Henry R. Wilson — born August 7, 1780 (Presbyterian minister).

3. John Wilson — born October 20, 1782.
4. David Wilson — born October 1785 — married Martha Agnew — died September 5, 1822.

Note: — Martha Agnew, the wife of David Wilson, died shortly before her husband, and is buried beside him in Lower Marsh Creek marked.

5. Samuel Wilson — born May 8, 1790 — died March 9, 1810.
6. William Wilson — born April 27, 1793 — never married.

Robert Wilson — born June 29, 1798.

Note: — Jane, the wife of Robert Wilson, who died May 13, 1831, aged 32 years, is buried in Lower Marsh Creek Cemetery. If her husband is interred in the same burial ground his grave is unmarked.

A grandson of Captain David Wilson, in writing of the Revolutionary patriot, tells how the old soldier, during the last years of his life, would, in good weather, sit on the porch of his home in Hamilton Township and reminisce on some of the stirring events of his life. The writer also mentions the double row of cherry trees, that lined the lane leading to the Wilson home. These trees, planted by David Wilson, were famous in the neighborhood, and all were permitted to enjoy the fruit, but the trees could not be injured in the process of picking the cherries.

There is a burial ground for slaves, belonging to the Wilson family on the farm. At one time each grave in this plot was marked with a field stone, with the name of the slave cut thereon, but these have disappeared in recent years. There was also a "slave house," a short distance from the homestead, but this too has disappeared.

In the "Adams Centinel" for Monday, July 27, 1846, the following obituary appeared:

"Died, Tuesday, July 21, 1846, that venerable patriot of the Revolution, Captain David Wilson, of Hamilton Township, this county, aged 95 years. He served as a captain in the Flying Camp in the War of the American Revolution. He has gone down to the grave full of years — leaving behind him no enemy upon earth, and a reputation that throughout a long life has been without a stain."

The newspaper account of Captain Wilson's death gives the date as "July 21, 1846," whereas the date on the marker at his grave is "July 22, 1846." Since the record in the family Bible agrees with that on the gravestone, the latter must be accepted as he correct one.

These notes will be continued next week.

IKE GOLFS IN SUNNY HIGH 80'S

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower relaxed today at his favorite vacation retreat, the Augusta National Golf Club.

The President arranged for another 18 holes after dealing with a round of government business.

He flew from Washington Friday and was out on the course within an hour after arriving in mid-afternoon. The weather was ideal for golf. Temperatures were in the sunny high 80s.

Eisenhower plans to stay through Monday morning and then fly back to the capital. This is his 1952 election and his second this month.

It and probably will be his last until fall. The course will close May 12 for the summer.

Traveling with Eisenhower aboard his private plane, Columbine III, were New Yorkers Barry Leitch, head of Cluett, Peabody Co., and William E. Robinson, president of the Coca Cola Co.

Already on hand at the club was New York investment banker Clifford J. Roberts, board chairman of the Augusta National Club.

SAYS USW WON'T
FOREGO RAISE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The president of the United Steelworkers said Friday certain steel executives want the USW to forego a wage increase scheduled for July 1. He said the union has no intention of doing so.

USW President David J. McDonald told union members in a speech prepared for delivery at a District 19 conference that such suggestions were made to him informally. He declared:

"There seems to be a concentrated drive under way on the part of certain steel executives to have the United Steelworkers of America forego the wage increase scheduled for July 1."

"What is the sense of writing a contract if one or the other parties regard it as just so many words written on paper?" McDonald asked.

"When we—USW—first signed a contract with U. S. Steel some 22 years ago we stated publicly that the union was doing so with the firm belief that a contract was a sacred thing," he added. "We have not changed that belief nor do we intend to change it."

Computation Of Tax
Will Be Reviewed

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Sales Tax Bureau will begin after July 31 reviewing the methods used by retailers to compute returns.

The bureau said Thursday the firms will have to outline their procedures after that date on special forms to be provided by the bureau.

At present, a retailer may choose any one of several methods for computing the money he owes the state on sales taxes he collected. For instance if he handles many small purchases, he may pay 3 per cent of his gross volume after it is determined what per cent of his volume includes taxable merchandise.

WITNESS FOR THE PROSECUTION

Let's Look At The Record

By Jim Dan Hill, Ph.D.

CUBA LIBRE
Bayonets Have Always Ruled Cuba;
Batista Just Another
Despotic LiberalCUBA LIBRE in most modern communities, means a shot of rum in a tall coca-cola. It was once a battle cry for freedom.

America handed Cuba that freedom on a silver platter. It was accompanied by a bright new constitution and all the well oiled machinery for a fine, exemplary, representative government of, for, and by the Cuban people.

In the oratory of that occasion, the cruel despotism of the old Spanish empire was soon to become but a memory. The day of Cuba Libre had come. Cuba was free!

BUT WHILE the heroic battle cry was degenerating into an entry in "The Bar Tender's Guide, Cuban democracy was likewise sinking. No captain general from old Spain was ever able to annex unto himself more arrogant authority than that appropriated unto themselves by Cuba's home grown dictators masquerading as duly elected presidents.

El Presidente Fulgencio Batista is thus proving to be a poor advertisement for an American sponsored democracy. The Communists know this, hence their interest in feeding the flames in Cuba.

IN CUBA they count the bayonets instead of the ballots.

American bayonets bossed the first election, December 1901. This was when America's Major General Leonard Wood handed over the bright, new government to President Estrada Palma.

THIS WORTHY was a good man and true until he discovered the financial benefits of a Latin American presidency.

Bullets defeated him in 1906 without the constructive result of designating a successor. Back came the American bayonets for an honest, non-partisan election in 1909. During the interim Judge Charles E. Magoon ran the limping domain.

This was pursuant to the Cuban constitution. But this and similar episodes elsewhere brought howls of injured pride from Latin America. America renounced all similar constitutional and treaty rights during one of F. D. Roosevelt's bursts of neighborly good will. Otherwise the current crop of postdated New Dealers would not be yapping for Eisenhower to intervene again and spank Bad Boy Batista.

JUDGE MAGOON'S American bayonets achieved the election of a great Cuban Liberal, Jose Miguel Gomez. His party would have won the next election but for a gunpowder primary within the party.

But the Liberals made a comeback and put in a succession of despots during the boom times of World War I and after. Fraud in high places was the order of the day. Elections were openly rigged with Cuban soldiers at the polls so that control of the island was always in the hands of one of a tight, little sugar-coated oligarchy.

PRESIDENT MACHADA (1924-33) was the worst of Cuba's long line of inglorious Liberals. Among them, his greatest crime, even greater than pocketing a few millions, was his failure to pass the job around, each four years, within the oligarchy.

He ran out of both bayonets and bullets in 1933 and beat an opposition firing squad to the airport to catch an out-bound plane.

A POWDER BURNED Dr. Carlos Cespedes took over. He had the warm blessing of Franklin D. Roosevelt's Ambassador Sumner Welles. He promised economic aid.

But Cuba's intellectuals, i.e., the college and university professors, their students, and members of the professions, distrusted this flirtation with Yankee imperialism. They encouraged a shrewd and most, non-intellectual army sergeant to spring a mutiny and hereby pull the election-day guns from under Cespedes. They would deal with this rum-dum, unlettered sergeant at a later date. He seemed a modest novice who wanted nothing higher than the rank of colonel.

What they overlooked was the enthusiasm with which Sergeant Fulgencio Batista chased out all the generals before he accepted the rank of colonel, senior colonel, that is!

FROM THAT DAY Cuba has been Batista's oyster. But he has observed certain conventions. He has not been as greedy as his other Liberal predecessors. He has rotated the presidency, often using weak intellectuals as fronts: Dr. Grau San Martin, Colonel Mendieta, Dr. Jose Barnet, Dr. Mariano Gomez, Dr. Fredrico Bru, Batista himself (1940-44), Dr. Grau San Martin again, and Dr. Carlos Prío Sacarrias, and Batista himself, 1954 to date. But all have served only on Batista's sufferance — on Batista's bayonets.BUT GOVERNMENTS exist only with the consent of the governed — be it Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini or Batista. The people make match sticks of guns, when truly aroused. Why do they accept Batista and reject Castro? Because they know darn well Castro will most likely cost them more by being a less competent Batista once he is in.

There is no cure for the Cuban, and similar Latin American situations until their leaders truly view a public office as a public trust. The chaos of the situation is as simple as that.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—William F. Spicer, 28, was sentenced to 10 to 40 years in prison after pleading guilty to burglarizing churches and a warehouse. His explanation: "I don't always need the money. These burglaries ease my tensions. I sleep like a baby afterward."

Rookies Spark Major League Tussles In West Coast Wins; 60,636 See Bums Beat Cards

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The rookies are really giving those rookie crowds a treat in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The San Francisco Giants, winning their third straight, climbed into the National League last night with a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Right-hander Ray Manzant, no rookie but a youngster, gained his first major league shutout with a four-hitter while rookie Bob Schmidt tripled and scored the first run, on Manzant's single, and rookie Orlando Cepeda drove in the second.

At Los Angeles, rookie Norm Larker drove in a pair of runs while rookie southpaw Fred Kipp won his first as a NL record night game crowd of 0.3 sat in on the Dodgers' 5-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Braves Blank Phils
Milwaukee's world champion Braves gained a share of second with the Cubs, a half-game behind, as ex-Cub Bob Rush tossed a six-inning shutout for a 4-0 decision over Philadelphia. Pittsburgh clipped Cincinnati 4-3.

In the American League, Baltimore scored unearned runs in the ninth for a 2-1 victory over the first place New York Yankees. Washington took second, a game back, by beating Boston 2-0 on Pete Ramos' six-hitter. Cleveland clubbed Detroit 12-2 and the Chicago White Sox ending their losing streak at five with a 5-12, 12-inning victory over Kansas City.

Monzant, beating the Cubs for the first time in five decisions, struck out seven—three times fanning dangerous Ernie Banks—and didn't allow a walk for his second victory. Jim Brosnan lost it for a 1-2 record, although allowing only five hits. The game drew a crowd of 16,870.

Musial Belts Four
Kipp, who had a brief fling last year, also didn't walk a man, although he gave way to Ed Roebuck when the Cardinals scored an unearned run in the eighth that made it 4-3. Larker sent a 430-foot triple into center field for two runs and a 3-1 lead in the fifth.

Los Angeles reliever Frank Barnes, then singled and scored the clincher on Gil Hodges' double in the seventh.

Stan Musial had four of the Cards' nine hits, upping his league leading average to .553, but twice was cut down at the plate in attempts to score on infield grounders.

Roberts Is Beaten
The crowd bettered the night-game record of 51,780 set by the Giants and Dodgers at New York's Polo Grounds on May 1, 1947.

Rush, the righthander of the Braves "stole" from the Cubs last winter, had the help of Joe Adcock's 400-foot-plus one run and a doubleplay in winning his first start. The doubleplay got him out of a bases-loaded jam in the sixth, an inning after he had given up his first hit, Robin Roberts, who beat Rush last week, lost it, giving up nine hits.

Robert Clemente had three of Pittsburgh's nine hits, one a three-run homer that led it in the seventh against lesser Harvey Haddix. Clemente also doubled and scored the first run, tying it 1-1 in the sixth after George Crowe had homered in the Redleg third. Vern Law won it with relief help.

CHAPMAN TIED WITH DURHAM
By KEN ALYTA
PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Dick played about 3,000 rounds of golf in his 41 winters at Pinehurst, give or take a few hundred.

Today he was to play the most important of them all — meeting Herb Durham in the finals of the North and South Amateur Tournament. Their 36-hole match was scheduled for 9:45 a.m. (EST) and 2 p.m. starting times.

Chapman at 47 is 14 years older than his rival from Dallas, Tex. It is somewhat ironic that Chapman, in playing some 25 North and South tournaments, has reached the finals only twice and never won, while Durham made the finals in his very first start.

Chapman lost his last three holes of his semifinals match with Bill Hyndman but recovered in time to win the 19th hole and the match with a par four.

Durham parred the last hole to win his match from Jack Penrose of Miami, Fla., 1 up.

Seven years ago Chapman got to the semifinals, but since then he has had troubles. Last year he lost in the first round, the year before in the second.

Nadir could be termed the "crazy millionaire." That's the price owner Arthur Hancock has put on the head of his cantankerous 3-year-old colt.

VILLANOVA TO SEEK BIG TITLE IN PENN RELAYS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Villanova, rested from a spectacular record-breaking defense of its distance medley relay title, today goes after victories in two other races it has won three years in a row. A double victory would accomplish what has never been done before at the gigantic Penn Relays carnival.

The Wildcats, anchored by Olympic champion Ron Delany, shattered their own 2-year-old mark of 9:58.1 with a 9:55.3 clocking in the only major relay championship decided yesterday. It was Villanova's third straight win in this event.

Today Villanova seeks the one-mile title and the sprint medley title. Never in the carnival's 4-year-history has any college ever won the mile relay four times in a row—nor has any school won the middle distance relays three or more years in succession.

Spotlight On Wildcats
The spotlight shone on the Wildcats, and particularly on Delany, since the carnival's glamour race—a special 100-yard dash—has lost the bulk of its lustre with the scratching of Olympic champion Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian because of an injured leg.

The Texas sprinter was booked to meet his old nemesis, Duke's Dave Sime, and his equally-fast teammate, Bill Woodhouse, with Penn State's Bobby Brown an additional starter.

Morrow, actually, isn't being sidelined completely. He's anchoring the Abilene Christian quarter-mile and half-mile sprint relay teams which racked up fast times in yesterday's qualifying heats—42.2 in the 440-yard and 1:27.1 in the 800. North Texas State with 41.9 recorded the fastest clocking in the quarter-mile.

Morrow's coach, Oliver Jackson, said he scratched his star from the special "100" to permit him to "relax" a little.

Morrow hurt a groin muscle before leaving for the relays Tuesday, and he was obviously in pain as he whipped around the fast, dry track yesterday.

"The match race would tense him up," Jackson said, "so we decided to keep him out of it. Our main interest here is to win the two sprint relays."

Manhattan College is out to repeat last year's victories in the 2-mile and the 4-mile relays, but is expected to have heavy contention from Penn State, Michigan State and St. John's.

BIG BOB RUSH CREDITS CLUB BLANKING PHILS
MILWAUKEE (AP) — When the Chicago Cubs traded Bob Rush to the Milwaukee Braves last winter, the skeptics said the jumbo right-hander couldn't win for a contender because he always lost the close games.

He set out to prove they were wrong last night with a three-hit, 4-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and noted with satisfaction that his success is traceable to the very fact that he is with a contender.

"I don't want to knock the Cubs," Rush said after his first start, "but the difference is in the ball club. A lot of pitchers lost a lot of close games because the team behind them can't come up with the key play."

"A pitcher has more chance of winning with a club like this," he continued, "because they make the plays. I have a 1-0 lead in the fifth and it's still tough and go. What happens? Del Crandall picks (Gran) Hamner off second."

10 Years With Cubs
"The score is 2-0 in the seventh and Johnny Logan comes up with a carom off Eddie Mathews' glove and throws out the runner. Then Mathews beats out an infield hit in the eighth and we get the fourth run. It's plays like that that make the difference."

The 32-year-old Rush spent 10 seasons with the Cubs before getting his reprieve in the form of a five-player deal last Dec. 5. A 6-4, 205-pounder with a giraffe-like gait, Rush's won-loss record against the Phils before last night was seven and 25, including a loss in relief to them April 20.

Mount Golfers Win First Victory 6-3
The Mt. St. Mary's golf team won its first match of the season after four losses by defeating Baltimore University 6-3 on the Caledonia golf course Friday.

Washington College will meet the Mountaineers at Caledonia on Monday.

Eastern League
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Allentown and Springfield scored their first victories of the young Eastern League season last night, leaving only Williamsport still without a marker in the win column.

Allentown knocked off Reading 7-5 after three straight defeats, and Springfield, after losing two to Albany, turned back the Senators 10-7 in a 10-inning battle.

In other games, York put together three hits in the seventh inning for a 2-1 victory over Lancaster, while Binghamton ran its string to four straight over Williamsport with a 5-2 win.

Herman Hickman, Football Player And Coach, Dies Of Ulcer Condition On Friday

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herman Hickman's death yesterday deprived sports of one of its biggest, most colorful figures.

The "Round Man" (he used to weigh somewhat more than 300 pounds) died at Providence Hospital of an ulcer condition worsened by severe liver and kidney complications.

Death removed Hickman from the sports and TV-radio scene at the age of 46. In his time, he won renown as a football player, coach and chronicler and commentator.

Services will be held (at the Gliddens Funeral Home) in Jacksonville Beach, Fla., home of Hickman's twice-widowed mother. No date has been set.

Former Yale Coach
Hickman, the former Yale coach and Tennessee guard, retired from an active role in football in 1952, two years after Yale had renewed his contract for 10 seasons.

From '48 through '51, his Eli teams won 16, lost 17 and tied 2. Brainsy and amusing, with a hill-billy drawl that belied his erudition, Hickman already had become a TV personality and quiz show panelist. He continued to appear on radio and TV sports programs and to write for magazines.

As versatile as he was large, Herman became football editor of Sports Illustrated and published a work called the "Herman Hickman Reader." He wrote his own verse and could quote almost any poet of greater or lesser note.

Starred At Tennessee
Hickman, who last week told a reporter he had shrunk "60 pounds under my eating weight," loved to eat and loved to cook. "Ah eats anything that won't eat me," he once said.

He was born Herman Michael Hickman Jr. at Johnson City, Tenn., Oct. 1, 1911. Starting his football playing at Baylor Prep in Chattanooga, he later starred at the University of Tennessee under

TEXAN LEADING $15,000 OPEN IN LOUISIANA
LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Victories on professional golf's tournament trail have been few and far between for Don January, but the 28-year-old Texan had his erratic game under control today and held the lead in the $15,000 Lafayette Open.

January, whose last major triumph was in the 1956 Dallas Centennial came in with a 68 yesterday and a 36-hole total of 137. January's putter, which he described as erratic, was the personification of stability as he vaulted into the lead.

But the young Texan had such shotmakers as homegrown Jay Hebert and South Africa's Gary Player breathing on his neck as today's third round opened.

Breaks Course Record
Hebert, a Lafayette native who now plays out of Sanford, Fla., was tied for second place with Player and Leo Blaggett of St. Paul, Minn., Bill Collins of Grossingers, N.Y., and former South-eastern PGA champ Charley Harper of Columbus, Ga., all showing 138.

Harper, who rarely appears in tournament trail events, shattered the Oakbourne Country Club course record in yesterday's second round. His 65 over the 6,947-yard layout was six strokes under par.

Former Ryder Cupper Dick Metz of Fort Worth, another stranger to tournament competition, was grouped at 141 with six others, including Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., golf's main advocate of the baseball-type grip.

The field was trimmed after the second round with 150 the cutoff point. Among those falling to qualify for the final 36 holes was Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., former United States and British Amateur king.

Coach Bob Neyland. Hickman was named a guard on the All-Time Football Team selected in The Associated Press midcentury sports poll.

After graduation in 1932, Hickman played professional football for the old Brooklyn Dodgers and between seasons more than made expenses traveling the pro wrestling circuit.

He went to Yale as head coach in 1948 after hitches as an assistant at the Wake Forest, North Carolina State and West Point.

His wife and mother were at his bedside when he died. He courted his wife, the former Helen Clara Smith, on the Tennessee campus, about 25 years ago. They had no children.

BUILDING AND REPAIR

Flea Beetles Cause Severe Damage To Vegetable Plants

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

If you're a home gardener, watch out for a pest known as the flea beetle. Numerous small, round holes eaten into the leaves of your vegetable plants are typical of the injury that flea beetles cause. Over half of the leaf surface may be eaten away on many leaves of young plants. Flea beetle injury slows down the plant growth, and may even cause young plants to die.

A good number of vegetables are susceptible to flea beetle attack. You need to watch for flea beetles on radishes, spinach, beets, eggplant, tomatoes, potatoes, and cabbage.

Now if you find flea beetles going after any of your garden vegetables, you can kill them by using either a rotenone or malathion dust. Just put on the rotenone or malathion dust every five days, and your problem with flea beetles will be over. The materials are safe to use on plants, and are not very toxic to humans. But to protect people who might eat your vegetables, don't use malathion on the edible parts of plants, such as spinach or beets tops, within ten days of harvest.

Use Lindane Dust

So keep an eye peeled for flea beetles in your vegetable garden, and get after them with a malathion or lindane dust.

Lice and mites on checkers can be a problem... but not so great that you can't solve the problem. The answer lies in one of our new chemicals known as malathion. Chicken mites, northern fowl mites, and several kinds of chicken lice can be controlled effectively. If you dust or spray them with malathion.

To treat the building itself for lice and mites on poultry, use malathion dust on the litter roost and nests. Or you can spray walls, roosts and nests with either malathion or lindane.

You remove the birds if the building is sprayed with malathion or lindane. It's important also to be sure you don't contaminate the water or feed because these chemicals are pretty powerful.

Follow Directions

Also be sure to follow the directions on the container as to what strength to use. If you have any doubts on how to spray or dust your poultry house to get rid of lice and mites with chemicals, get in touch with your Extension Office.

The other day, a poultry specialist was telling a group of growers that they are primarily interested in just the temperature. That's the bird's body temperature of 106 degrees... inside the bird's body. At that body temperature of 106 degrees the birds live, lay, and grow best. About that time someone in the audience asked, "Where in the world do you get thermometers to tell the temperature inside of the birds..." and how often must you read the thermometers?"

Practical Answer

There is a practical answer to this question. If house temperatures are too warm, the birds have to work to keep their body temperature down to 106 degrees. They'll do their best to move away from the heat, and try to find cooler places in the house. Overheated birds will pant, hold their wings out from their bodies... they'll be less active and drink more water.

On the other hand, if birds have trouble in keeping the body temperature up to 106 degrees, they are likely to crowd in bunches. Sometimes they'll crowd in corners, around feeders, or around the source of heat. The grown-up adult birds often start to pack in bunches whenever the house temperature drops below 34 degrees. The younger chicks or poult often give shrill, unhappy cries, when they are uncomfortably cold.

An experienced poultryman doesn't need a body thermometer to know whether or not the body temperature of the birds is 106 degrees. He just knows whether the birds are laboring to keep their bodies comfortably warm or cool... by watching how the birds behave.

RENO (R)—This city's only policeman has quit.

Mrs. Mary Reilly said she resigned because she was told she would be demoted to PBX operator, with little more than half her former $410 monthly salary.

Police Chief T. R. Berrum confirmed he had been planning to abolish the female officer force, which once had three members. "The women never worked out here," he commented.

The Weeders Guide

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y.—Gardening is fun, and it can also be hard work. But there are many ways of making the job easier.

A lawn, for example, which is cut often is much easier to mow than one which has been allowed to go untended. Not only does the mower have an easier time, but the lawn looks neater and the gardener is spared the chore of sweeping up grass clippings which may smother and kill the growth beneath it. Short clippings, on the other hand, fall among the grass shoots, making a mulch which helps feed and protects the roots from the hot sun.

A hedge clipped often is much easier on the gardener's arms than one which has been permitted to develop thick, tough stems. A tree pruned properly when young, is unlikely to develop weak boughs or boughs which cross each other, and require heavy sawing equipment.

Easy To Stop Weeds

A garden which is weeded often is infinitely easier to tend than one which receives infrequent attention. If you pull a cultivating tool—a hoe or pronged fork—among the plants whenever little weed seeds have sprouted, they are a cinch to control. If you let them develop, it is a job requiring hoe, rake and a lot of hand-weeding.

Hand-weeding, of course, can never be completely eliminated from a garden. There are always places under the leaves of the desirable plant where it is safe only for a small tool or fingers to go. But the biggest part of the job can be done easily with a potato hook or diamond-point hoe if done frequently.

Need Few Tools To Start

At the beginning of gardening, we really need few tools. Inevitably we begin to collect more as our interest grows. But there are few garden chores we can not do if equipped with a lawn mower, grass shears, hedge clipper, pruning shears, pruning saw, spade, spading fork, iron rake, grass rake (flexible metal or bamboo), hoe and pronged cultivator. A wheelbarrow is important, but I've found that a garden cart is easier for a woman to handle. And I use half-bushel baskets to take into the garden with me to store stones and debris for deposit later in the cart. A hose is an absolute essential. I use a soaker—a length of perforated hose—for all watering jobs, although many people use sprinklers for lawn and garden.

In the small tool department, there is a trowel, a hand cultivator and a dibble.

This is an era of chemical gar-

The Brewster: Historic Styling Up To Date

Rooms: Five
Bedrooms: Two
Closets: Seven
Cubage: 32,500 ft.
Dimensions:
House only: 50' x 23'
Overall: 50' x 50'

The Home of the Week Plan Service today features the "Brewster," a five-room Cape Cod home that seems to have stepped from the pages of history.

It's cute, quaint, charming—but modern. It retains the wonderfully warm coziness of a rose-covered colonial structure but provides today's family with the convenience it wants and needs.

The living room extends across the front of the house for 26 feet of the "Brewster's" 50-foot frontage. The room has a depth of 14 feet, nine inches.

Forming an L-shape to the living room is the dining room at the rear of the house which is 12 feet square.

Modern Fireplace Style

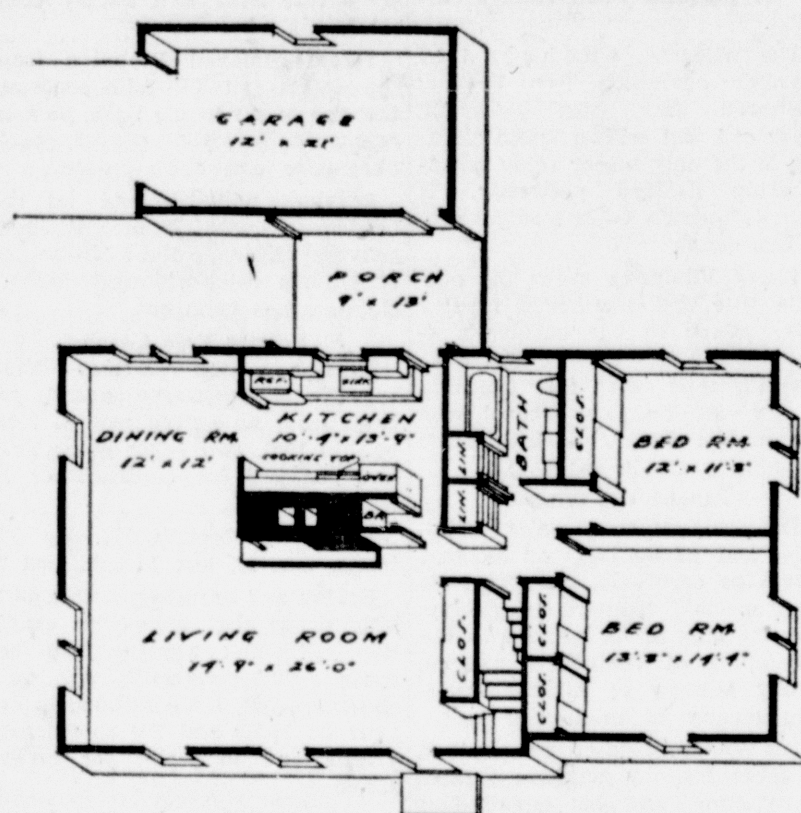

In order to even classify itself as a colonial style home, a house must have a fireplace. This the "Brewster" has, but a touch of modern can be added by designing it as a Swedish modern unit open on both the living room at its front and on the side nearest the dining room.

The kitchen, immediately behind the fireplace, is 10 feet, four inches wide by 13 feet, nine inches long. The sink, flanking counters and the dening, so a good sprayer is important. The kind you buy depends largely upon the use to which it will be put—and how much weight the gardener can carry around.

My own current favorite is a stirrup pump type, which can be put in a pail containing the spray solution, and operated with a trombone sort of slide.

Be very careful not to mix up weed-killers and bug-killers in the same containers, for the chances are you cannot remove every trace of weed-killer from the spray and you may, as a consequence, lose some of your best plant material.

refrigerator are arranged along the rear exterior wall. The built-in wall oven and its countertop surface burners are along the opposite wall, backed up to the rear of the fireplace.

Two Bedrooms

The two bedrooms and the bathroom are at the other extremity of the house from the living room, kitchen and dining room.

The front bedroom is 13 feet, eight inches wide by 14 feet, four inches wide. The second bedroom, at the rear of the "Brewster," is 12 feet long by 11 feet, eight inches wide.

The rear bedroom has one triple size closet while the front room has two closets, each slightly larger than a conventional unit.

There are two linen closets; one inside the bathroom, the second just outside the entrance to the bathroom.

Rear Porch

A porch and the garage are at rear of the house. The porch measures 13 feet by 12 feet. The garage is 12 feet by 20 feet.

If an owner would apply the plan shown here, it would be necessary to build the "Brewster" on a

Now Is The Proper Time To Plant Your Trees And Shrubs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y.—This is the time of the year to think about planting trees and shrubs, because by now you ought to know pretty well what you want and need, based on experiences earlier in the season.

There is scarcely a home-owner in the country who is completely satisfied with his plantings and most are eager to warn against a repetition of mistakes. But the hardest person to convince about going slow is the new homeowner, confronted with a naked expanse of shadeless yard and eager to start filling it in with material.

That is where a nurseryman comes in handy. He can be of great help in making important, expensive decisions. But the taste and needs of the individual family must be his guide. And if you really don't know what you want, the best course is to make temporary arrangements—quick growing, less costly shrubs which can be replaced, vines and fences.

Foundation Planting Outmoded

Some planting need not wait. If there is an area to be screened, for instance, the sooner the material is put into the ground the better. Once the most important planting was a foundation planting which concealed the rather unpleasant base of the house. This is no longer unattractive, hence many home owners skip a foundation planting entirely or make it the final item in a long-term planting plan. A spread-out plan, actually, corner lot with the house facing on one street and the garage at the rear opening to a street on one side.

is the best idea for most of us on a budget, with first things first—a corner planting, a hedge, a couple of larger (and more expensive) shade trees.

At the moment, planting of ornamental trees, and some evergreens is at the top of the new home owner's gardening list. Fall, with cooler weather and considerable rain, is the best time for most of these. The exception is the group of trees with soft roots—like magnolia and yellow poplar. And for some trees and shrubs, fall is almost a strict rule; lilacs, for instance, do much better with fall planting, and so do most evergreens.

Think About Future

In planting, do think about the future. Shrubs and trees do grow, a fact easily stated but hard to envision. The do-it-yourself gardener is very likely to crowd his plants so closely that none of them has room to expand easily. Even a professional can be trapped. The specialist who set in my foundation planting years ago packed in the young trees and shrubs—yews, evergreen euonymus, laurel, holly and viburnum, so close that I've been moving plants out to the borders for several years. Even the dogwood, now grown almost as tall as the house, was set too close to the foundation and required frequent pruning. Overplanting, in addition to being poor gardening, is expensive.

In selecting new material, do consider something besides evergreens—satisfactory as they are. One of the great pleasures of a planting is the seasonal bloom, followed by fruit. Our birds enjoy eating the fruit of the berry-bearing shrubs as much as we enjoy looking at it—and we in turn enjoy watching the birds.

BUILDING AND REPAIR

ON THE HOUSE

By JOHN WALLACE
AP Newsfeatures

The type of house you're going to build is more important than its style. You can visualize how the house is going to look and you can even make changes in its style later on if you want to do so. But its type of construction will determine how well it is going to fit your needs over the years.

There are many styles in houses — ranch style, bungalow, Cape Cod, Tudor colonial, early American and Georgian, just to mention a few. However, there are only four basic types of houses.

Each basic type can be varied to suit a particular style. Also each basic type has certain advantages as well as some drawbacks. This should be considered when you're deciding on the type of house you are going to build.

The following guide can be helpful in selecting the type best suited to your needs.

One Story

The one-story: All of its habitable rooms are on one floor. The roof usually is pitched low because there is no headroom requirement between the ceiling and the roof. The roof height may vary according to the desired exterior design. The roof also may be constructed as a flat deck. The ceiling may be flat or it may follow the lines of the rafters.

Advantages of the one-story house: There are no stairs to climb. Housekeeping fatigue is reduced. The single floor reduces repetition of installations required in houses with more than one floor such as baths, linen closets and telephone extensions. An impressive length of front exterior is possible. Outdoor living areas may be placed off bedrooms as well as off the other rooms. Its low height provides ease of maintenance.

Disadvantages of the one-story house: Bedrooms are not removed from the living and service areas and the bedroom windows are close to street eye level. This reduces bedroom privacy. Construction costs may be higher because of the size of the foundation and roof required and because of the additional land required for a greater house length. It is costlier to operate because of the heat loss in winter and the proximity of the roof and sun to living quarters during the summer months.

Story-and-a-half

The story-and-a-half: Here habitable rooms are on two floors, one above the other and the roof usually is high pitched with the eave just above the first floor windows. The high roof houses the second floor and because of its pitch the room area under it is smaller than the room area below. The room arrangement usually follows this pattern: the living and dining rooms plus the kitchen, bath and one or more bedrooms on the first floor; two or more bedrooms and a bath on the second floor.

The advantages of the story-and-a-half: There is a saving in construction cost. The foundation size is much less than it would be if all rooms were on one floor. Exterior wall framing is minimized because the roof does two jobs; it is a cover and it forms the second floor living area. The second floor takes advantage of heat which normally would be lost through the roof of a one-story house. Some bedrooms may be removed from living and service areas to permit privacy and quiet.

Disadvantages of the story and a half: The housekeeper must climb stairs. The height of the roof is such that it gives a top heavy appearance. With heat coming up from the first floor, it is more difficult to cool the second floor. Maximum insulation is required for the upper area because of its proximity to the roof.

Two Story

The two-story: In this type habitable rooms are on two floors, one above the other, and its square footage. All bedrooms usually are on the second floor. Its upstairs rooms usually have level ceilings, and the roof sits on top of the upstairs rooms.

Advantages of the two-story: You get maximum square foot living area for the cost of the house; the foundation and roof are just half the size of the over-all square footage. All bedrooms can be removed from the living and service areas for quiet and privacy. Heating costs are reduced because the second floor gets the advantage of rising heat from the first floor. This type permits a large house to be built on a modest sized lot.

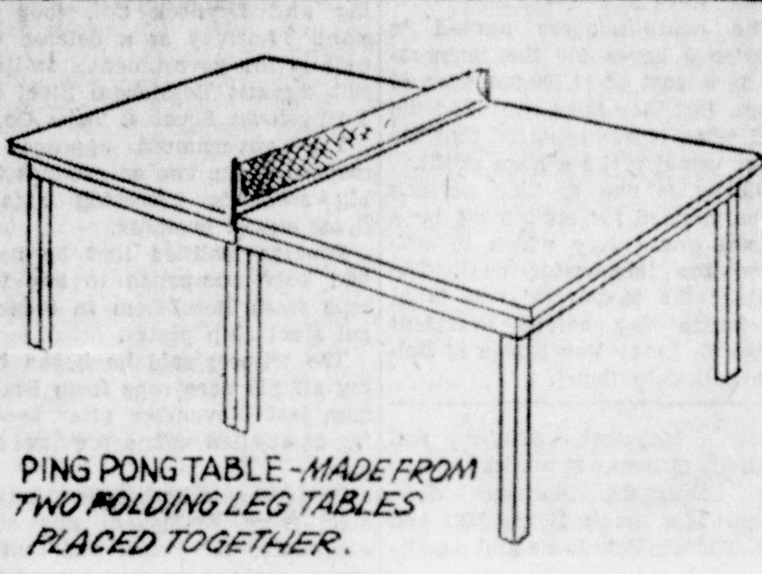

Disadvantages of the two-story: Its tall, narrow exterior appearance usually demands an additional expenditure to "dress up" its facade. Exterior maintenance is difficult because of the height of the second floor and the roof. The housekeeper must climb stairs. Resale may be difficult because statistics show that the two-story house is not the preferred type of home for the average American family.

Split Level

The split level: Here habitable rooms are on three or more levels, "flashed" up or down from its adjacent level. The grade level with its concrete floor usually is occupied by the garage, a play or family room and other areas for informal living. The living and dining rooms and the kitchen are on the next higher level. The next level up provides bedroom space and, occasionally, still another level above offers additional bedroom space.

Advantages of the split level:

PING PONG TABLE—MADE FROM TWO FOLDING LEG TABLES PLACED TOGETHER.

The Associated Press

Question: I have some three-quarter-inch plywood from which I plan to make a ping pong table for our recreation room. I want to make it regulation size, which is 5 feet by 9 feet, but there will be times when something of this size will be in the way. How can I make the table so that it can be easily taken down and put out of the way when it is not wanted?

Answer: There are several different ways in which this can be done. One of the easiest is to make 2 tables, each 4½ by 5 feet. Make separate leg stands for each top, using the kind of folding leg braces you see on card tables. Put the tables together and you will have a fullsize regulation table. You can buy and use special-type hinges to hold the tables together as a single unit while the top is being used for a game. The hinges have pins which are easily removed when you want to separate the tables. You can then fold each part and place it against a wall. Or you may want to use the parts separately as snack or card tables.

The various areas of the house can be set apart effectively. Stair climbing is held to a minimum because adjacent levels usually are only half a flight up or down. Garage cost is reduced by having an area within the main structure for auto storage. Many possibilities for interesting exterior design are offered because of the different roof heights.

Disadvantages of the split level: Construction is more costly because the various levels complicate framing and break up continuous finishing. Heating installations are complicated because of the length of the house and the various levels; insulation becomes an important factor. Exterior grading of the land is more involved.

Question: We have an old pine bureau that has a reddish color to it, something like mahogany or cherry. I had planned on taking out the color with a paint remover and then applying a clean finish to it. However, a friend of mine, a retired woodworker, says it looks as though the wood is covered with an old-time finish made from red pigment and buttermilk, something I never heard of. He says this type of finish cannot be removed successfully. Do you know anything about this?

Answer: The finish your friend spoke of was made years ago from red pigment and buttermilk. Somebody apparently discovered that this combination covered wood imperfections and gave a mahogany-like appearance to certain kinds of soft woods, such as pine. The mixture is a sort of combined paint and stain and is extremely difficult to remove, as your friend pointed out. If you decide to go ahead with the refinishing job, put on the paint remover according to the directions of the brand you purchase and scrape it off. Apply a second coat and, when it starts to pimple and blister, immediately apply a third coat. Scrub this third coat with a fine grade of steel wool. Wipe off with a cloth and apply a fourth coat, again rubbing down with steel wool. Next moisten the natural alcohol and steel wool it

PLAN WORK SOON ON NEW BRIDGE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission has announced work will begin soon on the new $6,400,000 free bridge across the Delaware River near Yardley, Pa.

Plans for the substructure of the 10 span bridge have been approved, the commission said Thursday. It plans to advertise for bids this month.

The bridge, to be called Scuders Falls Bridge, will be 1.3 miles north of the present Yardley-Wilburtha, N.J., bridge, which was damaged in the flood of August, 1955.

Both New Jersey and Pennsylvania have approved preliminary plans for approaches to the bridge. It will carry four lanes of traffic. The commission also announced

HOPE WATER MAY END MINE FIRE AT KULPMONT

HARRISBURG (P) — A rising tide of underground water in abandoned workings raised the possibility Friday that it may edge up high enough to extinguish a recurring mine fire at Kulpmont.

The State Mines Department said the water table was expected to crest in the next four to six weeks about 100 feet below the surface. The water factor entered the picture for the first time because pumping operations were recently stopped at the Old Scott Colliery nearby.

"If all of the blazing coal is below this cresting point, then the problem may be ended," said engineer Ralph Lambert. "The best way to put out a mine fire—on a pitched operation such as this—is by absolute flooding."

Threatens Warehouse
The fire—an old one—is threatening the warehouse of Kanmak, Inc., a firm employing 300 persons in the manufacture of undergarments. Kulpmont Borough Council recently declared a state of emergency and urged Gov. Leader to intervene.

Mines Secretary Joseph Kennedy assigned three state mine inspectors to make an investigation and found that the mill itself is not menaced.

But high temperatures have been found under the warehouse, said Lambert.

Fire Watched Constantly
Lambert said the fire is under constant surveillance but that further plans depend on how the rising water from abandoned mines would affect the blaze. The

IDLE BENEFITS ARE STALLED BY HOUSE GROUP

WASHINGTON (P) — Opposition by half the powerful House Rules Committee has stalled plans for House action early next week on a Democratic-sponsored plan for special unemployment benefits.

Committee Chairman Smith (D-Va.), Rep. Colmer (D-Miss) and the four Republican members of the 12-man group Thursday attacked the measure as a device which they contended might threaten the present federal-state jobless insurance program.

House leaders had hoped to get Rules Committee clearance for the Democratic bill so it could be taken up in the House next Monday or Tuesday. But Smith held only a brief meeting and then called a recess until next Monday.

Delayed By Committee

Since the Rules Committee decides what legislation will be considered by the House, Smith's action makes uncertain when the House may get to consider the bill which its sponsors say is necessary to provide relief for the nation's jobless.

The Democratic bill, which would cost an estimated 1 1/2 billion dollars, would go far beyond a 600-million-dollar emergency proposal made by President Eisenhower. The President also has used the term dole in criticizing some aspects of the Democratic plan, which would be financed by the federal government and would cover many workers not now eligible for jobless payments.

Repaid By States

Eisenhower's proposal for an emergency extension of such payments would apply only to workers now covered by the federal-state program. Any federal funds used in that temporary program would have to be repaid by the states.

This unemployment compensation proposal was mentioned by Vice President Nixon last night when he said there are substantial indications that steps already taken by the administration "will be all that will be required to give the economy the help it needs."

Nixon spoke in New York a few hours after Eisenhower signed a bill aimed at giving the economy a boost by speeding up supply purchases by federal agencies.

DENIES STEEL TIE-IN SALES

NEW YORK (P) — Another witness has contradicted government testimony that Bethlehem Steel Corp. followed a policy of tie-in sales designed to eliminate competition in the steel industry.

H. Kenneth Peebles, vice president in charge of purchases for the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., took the stand Thursday as a defense witness in the government's antitrust suit against Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

The government opposes the merger of the two on grounds that big steel is squeezing smaller firms out of business.

Peebles testified that he never had been compelled to buy wire rope from Bethlehem in order to get steel ship plates.

The witness said he began buying all his wire rope from Bethlehem last November after becoming dissatisfied with a previous supplier.

Peebles said he had been buying steel from Bethlehem and other companies for years, and that no one at Bethlehem ever hinted that he would not get plates unless he bought wire too. He said there was no shortage of plates when he began buying wire from Bethlehem.

Frederick B. Paulsen, a small independent wire rope manufacturer, testified for the government last week that his salesman was rebuffed by Newport with the explanation it had to buy its rope from Bethlehem.

Other Bethlehem witnesses earlier in the trial also have denied, like Peebles, that they were forced to do business with Bethlehem.

also visited at the Snider home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sprankle and Atwood Hess had as supper guests on Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. David Little, Martin Reaver, Mrs. Lillie Moser, Samuel Gantz and son, Paul, and granddaughter, Beverly Ann Gantz, Waynesboro. Those who visited in the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Reaver, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harner, Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Reaver and daughter, Kathryn, Jimmie Reaver and Miss Louise Thomas, Keymar.

Believe Reds Have New Launching Units

OSLO, Norway (P) — Norwegian military officials believe the Soviet Union has built launching platforms for intermediate range ballistic missiles in East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange reported this to Parliament Thursday night. Unless the military reports are proved untrue or the missile bases removed, he added, the West should not negotiate with the Communists on banning nuclear weapons from the three countries. The missiles presumably carry nuclear warheads.

Lange spoke in a daylong debate on whether West Germany should be allowed nuclear arms.

FIND ENERGY IN NIGHT SKY

WASHINGTON (P)—Discovery of an unexpected source of energy in the night sky was reported Friday by a team of Naval Research Laboratory scientists.

It's a form of invisible ultraviolet radiation which streams from the sun, moves around to the dark side of the earth, and is reflected back into the earth's atmosphere by hydrogen atoms in space.

Researcher Herbert Friedman and several colleagues reported that this source of energy was discovered in experiments with rockets as part of the International Geophysical Year program.

In a report to a scientific meeting, amplified in an interview, Friedman said that while the reflected radiation is invisible to the naked eye, its energy is five times as great as the sum total of all the starlight that is visible.

"If we could see at this particular wave length," he told a newsman, "the entire sky would be lit up at night."

Friedman spoke at a joint meeting of the U.S. National Committee of the International Scientific Radio Union and the Institute of Radio Engineers.

WILL CONSIDER MORATORIUM ON PRICES, WAGES

NEW YORK (P) — Bethlehem Steel Corp. would give very careful consideration to a proposal to declare a moratorium on wage and steel price hikes, says President Arthur Homer.

Homer's remark was made on Thursday at his regular quarterly news conference, at which it was announced Bethlehem's first quarter net income fell to $24,819,490 or 52 cents a share from $33,427,655 or $1.16 a share in the like 1957 quarter.

In his comments on a wage and price hike moratorium, Homer emphasized he had received no such proposal from the Steelworkers Union and Bethlehem had made no such proposal. Furthermore, he said he felt halting inflation was a job for more than one company or industry.

Wage Hike July 1

Under terms of a labor contract, steel wages are due to be increased again July 1. There have been rumors that steel prices would be increased at the same time, as has been the case in past years.

Directors of Bethlehem declared a dividend of 60 cents a share on the common stock despite the fact earnings for the quarter fell 8 cents a share below covering this dividend.

Bethlehem's billings for the first quarter totaled $497,559,327 compared with $7,107,988 a year ago. Orders on hand at the end of the period amounted to $937,000,000 against $1,439,000,000 a year earlier.

The nation's second largest steel producer operated at 55.8 per cent

Truman Flails Republicans Again

NEW YORK (P)—Former President Harry S. Truman says Republican financial policies caused the economic recession. He predicts another bust similar to 1925 unless "somebody stops those fellows."

Truman spoke Thursday night at the annual $50-a-plate fund-raising dinner sponsored by the New York County Democratic Committee.

"The Republicans are not to be trusted with the command of the administrative or legislative departments" of either national or state governments, he said.

Truman decried the tight money policies of the Eisenhower administration, and took big business to task for what he termed shortsightedness.

Referring to reports that the United States Steel Corp. was about to raise prices while laying off more men, Truman said: "Who in hell's going to buy if they haven't got jobs and they keep raising the prices?"

of capacity during the quarter, producing 3,166,392 tons of steel. It is currently operating at about 52 per cent of its annual capacity of 23 million tons.
